LINCOLN COUNTY JURY GIVES DEATH PENALTY.

James Ellis Convicted at Somerset
And Condemned to Electric Chair
For Murder of Squire Beatty
At Burnside.

The Lincoln county jury which tried James Ellis at Somerset last week gave a death verdict against him. The Jurymen returned to their homes Sunday morning and were met at the depot by friends and relatives who congratulated them upon their action.

A dispatch from Somerset tells of the closing scenes of the celebrated trial:

After being out three hours with an hour for supper, the jury in the case of James Ellis, charged with the murder of Squire Beatty at Burnside some time ago, announced at 8 o'clock Saturday night that they had reached a verdict. The court-room was crowded. Judge Bethum sent for the prisoner and upon his arrival the jury was brought in E. B. Denham as foreman, read the verdict. He said, "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty and fix his penalty at death."

Each juror said it was his verdict. Ellis showed no sign of weakening and his expression changed but little. His wife threw herself in his arms and cried. His sister also cried aloud. Ellis tried to pacify them. His children hung to his neck. On Tuesday Judge Bethum will set the day for execution.

This is the first death penalty inflicted in the court-room for thirty years. A great crowd of Burnside citizens was present to hear the verdict. The jury on the first ballot voted guilty, one jurymen (Mr. J. M. Patton) holding out for life sentence eleven were for death. On the second ballot the verdict for the death penalty was unanimous.

The trial of Helton will be called on Tuesday. Judge Bethum has sent to Casey county for a jury.

Most of Saturday was taken up with arguments. The defense finished its evidence at 10 o'clock after which the prosecution offered several witnesses to prove Health's good character. United States Attorney Edwin P. Morrow spoke first for the State and he in a most dramatic way pictured the murder of Beatty and Health and all that led up to it. His picture of the grief-stricken mother when she was brutally ordered away from the body of her son immediately following the killing brought tears to the eyes of many spectators, and Ellis' sister, who has been constantly in the court-room, could not control her emotion. The sobs of Mrs. Beatty could be heard over the hushed court-room. Mr. Morrow spoke for an hour and a half.

All the while that J. N. Sharp was speaking in his behalf Ellis held his smallest child in his lap while the others played about his knees. When Sharp would make a good point in his speech, as Ellis thought he, would smile and nod his head. Sharp spoke for nearly two hours and was the only one to speak for the defense. He said that no two witnesses had testified to the same thing in the trial that every one of them saw the tragedy in a different way; that he did not see how a jury could send a man to death in the electric chair under such circumstances. Sharp pointedly called attention to jury to array of legal talent for the prosecution that filled the entire side of the court-room. He intimated quite broadly that Ellis was being persecuted instead of prosecuted, that wealth was arrayed against an innocent party.

Commonwealth's Attorney Jarvis closed the case at 5 o'clock, when the jury retired to its room to consider its verdict. Jarvis addressed the jury for nearly two hours, pleading for a verdict of murder in the first degree.

"I will not read the instructions of the court as to manslaughter, for they do not, in my opinion, properly enter the case. This was murder in the first degree."

ROBINSON REUNION.

A reunion of the immediate family and relatives of the late Benjamin F. Robinson, who resided for years near Camp Dick Robinson, in Garrard county was held last week at the club house on Dix River. Forty relatives gathered at the beautiful spot and to say the day was a delightful and happy one but mildly expresses the event. The Robinson family is one of the most prominent and popular in Central Kentucky—Every member being possessed of that big-heartedness, sociability and honorable bearing so characteristic of Col. Robinson. He was, in his prime, unquestionably, the best known stock man in this section, and distributed many a thousand dollars among the farmers. He was a true friend, an honorable gentleman and good citizen, and his name will long linger with those who know him. A sumptuous dinner was served.—Danville Messenger.

CRAB ORCHARD.

What is probably the first, hence the most notable, example of modern educational methods in the entertainment of little children a four public schools filled with games and amusements for the primary department of the Crab Orchard graded school on Friday last. The entire class of Miss Mary Collins, the primary teacher, was invited to enjoy a lawn fete at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Edmiston, whose spacious, blue grass yard was filled with the laughing throng of "infants" from babies in their mother's arms up to 9-year-old and over.

Space forbids more than a hasty mention of the program, which was entirely the product of Miss Collins' training at the Western Kentucky State Normal School and consisted of diversified amusements such as delight the childish heart, and which at the same time inculcate the higher ideas of gentleness and courtesy. After an hour of gleeful pleasure the little army, of sixty-odd was treated by Miss Collins to delightful refreshments. The afternoon was distinctly a success and it will be duplicated in some equally delightful form in social training. The little ones present were: Misses Winnie Baker, Bessie Byrd, Ora Vanhook, Joie Smith, Nell Robinson, Mary Howard, Mary King, Sarah Harris, Arthura McCarley, Ada Geiszl, Lillie Martin Ruth Lucas, Gladys Wallin, Pearl Sowder, Jeannette Napier, Bessie Geiszl, Hazel Hunter, Aline Paris, Cecil Foley, Masters Claude Harris Harlan Harris, Wm. SPEAKING AT MIDDLEBURG.

Congressman Helm to Open Campaign There and at McKinney.

Congressman Harvey Helm will take the stump for the democratic state ticket this week, opening the campaign in Casey county at Middleburg on next Saturday at two o'clock. The same night he will speak at McKinney. Good crowds will doubtless hear him at both places for Mr. Helm is a convincing speaker, and having been in the thick of the fight at the last session of Congress when the democrats passed so much good legislation only to have it nullified by President Taft, he is in a splendid position to tell the people the inside facts of the case.

Splendid crowds are turning out at democratic speaking all over the state, and such enthusiasm among the people for a state democratic ticket has not been seen in many years. Hon. James Garnett, the nominee for attorney general and Congressman Ben Johnson made vigorous speeches to a large crowd at Danville Monday, and were repeatedly cheered. This was the latter's first speech of the campaign and he came out strong and unequivocally for the entire ticket from top to bottom.

Democratic Ticket.

For Governor—James B. McCreary.
For Lieut. governor—E. J. McDermett
For Treasurer—Thos. S. Rhea.
For Secretary of State—C. F. Crecenus.
For Attorney General—James Garnett.
For Auditor—H. M. Bosworth
For State Superintendent of Schools—
Barksdale Hamlett.
For Commissioner Agriculture—J. W.
Newman.
For Clerk Court of Appeals—R. L.
Greene.
For Railroad Commissioner—W. F.
Klaier.
For Circuit Judge—Charles A. Hardin.
For Representative—W. H. Shanks.

Reports have come to the editor of the Interior Journal that several of the ardent "wets" of the county are objecting vigorously to the publication of the names of the petitioners for a local option election in this paper, and threatening to stop their subscriptions if it is done. The editor of the Interior Journal desires, for the third time, to state that the names of the petitioners will be published regardless of who objects and regardless of who threatens to stop their papers or anything else. Furthermore anyone who it not pleased with the course of the Interior Journal in this or any other matter, is invited to step up at once and stop his paper, if he so desires. While we are glad to have everyone in this and surrounding counties take our paper, we intend to publish what we believe is right on every proposition that arises and no threats of stopping the paper or anything else are going to deter us.

The Interior Journal is going to give everyone concerned in the coming local option fight a fair, square deal. Its columns will be open for discussion on both sides, to those who desire to buy its advertising space. What the editor's personal views on the subject are, he intends to make known, regardless of who takes the paper or who stops it, or who advertises or who does not. We believe that the names of the petitioners for a local option election are a good item of news; for news is what the people don't know and want to, and a great many people are going to be interested in knowing who are asking for another whisky election in Lincoln county.

This is our position in a nutshell. Those who do not like it can make the most of it.

The republican claim of a split in the democratic ranks was given its death blow when Congressman Ben Johnson, of the Fourth District, made a strong and brilliant speech for McCreary and the ticket at Danville Monday. He was given an enthusiastic reception and left no doubt in the minds of anyone where he stands on the matter. Hon. John W. Rawlings, in introducing Mr. Johnson, declared that the Ben Johnson leaders were offering a reward for any Ben Johnson man who is not going to support the democratic ticket this fall, so sure were they that his friends and following all over the state will be solidly in line behind McCreary. That's the talk.

Thirty thousand people attended the big democratic rally at Carlisle last Thursday. Among the speakers were Governor Marshall, of Indiana, Governor McCreary, Ollie James and other big guns. Democratic enthusiasm was intense and splendid reports were heard from all that section.

The Louisville Evening Post has recently urged Senator Bradley that he owed it to himself, his party and his state to demand an investigation of the charges that his seat in the United States Senate was secured through the machinations of a corrupt lobby. But the Senator is silent. What has Judge O'Rear, who proclaimed Bradley "the greatest living Kentuckian, whose title is with-out flaw or stain" got to say on the subject? Is he for an investigation, or against it?

Judge O'Rear is afraid that some unsuspecting people will get mowed down by the democratic machine.

which, in his dreams he sees cutting a wide swath through the Commonwealth. There is a "Democratic machine" this year, and it is made up of Democrats of every faction, and the whirling of its mighty arms is the noise that keeps Judge O'Rear awake at night. The harvest it will gather will be a Democratic Governor, and Senator, and all State officers this year, and a Democratic President next year.

Judge O'Rear is a sad sort of humorist. He asks the voters to accept his platform endorsement of President Taft, and the national policies and record of the Republican party, as a mere joke. He describes it as a bouquet of compliments not meant to be taken seriously. How many other similar pranks has Judge O'Rear perpetrated on the people? He should label the planks in his platform so that we can tell when he is in earnest, and when he is poking fun at us.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

The man was mace. He entered the drug store and demanded that the proprietor should come forth.

"See here—look at my head!" he cried.

And there, on top of his very bald head, was a pronounced protuberance.

"Look at that he shouted; that is what the dam stuff did for me, and is growing bigger every day."

In anxious haste the druggist began to investigate. Soon he emerged triumphantly from behind the prescription case. "I've found it," said the druggist. "I had a new clerk and he gave you a bottle of Bust-Developer, when what you wanted was my celebrated Hair Restorer."

Wayne & Harmon of Marion sold and delivered Monday to A. E. Hundley & Son, of Boyle county, 86 head of grazing cattle that averaged 1,045 pounds each. It was a fine looking drove of cattle and while the price at which the cattle were sold was not announced, it is reported to have been a good one.

IN MEMORIAM

On Friday August 25, 1911, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Adams and took from them their little boy, James Lee. He was only 5 years and 15 days of age. He had been sick for some time, but no one expected his death so soon.

We had a little treasure once,
He was our joy and pride,
We loved him, ah, perhaps too well
For soon he slept and died.

All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.

Dear little hands,
We miss them so
All through the day,
Where ever we go.

All through the night,
How lonely it seems,
For no little hands
Wake us out of our dreams.

We miss them all thro'
The weary hours,
Miss them as others
Do sunshine and flowers.

Day time or night time,
Wherever we go,
Dear little hands,
We miss them so.

A Heart broken sister Ethel Adams.
